Iranian MPs rail against Turkey’s role in Nagorno-Karabakh

Zarif to visit Moscow, Baku

The statement also emphasized the need to respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity, and to stabilize the situation in the region. Zarif also reaffirmed Moscow’s role as a guarantor of the peace process in Nagorno-Karabakh.

The Islamic Republic of Iran also declares its readiness to deploy its peacemaking forces of the Russian Federation along the contact lines in accordance with its international commitments. The peacemaking forces will be deployed in accordance with the peace agreement outlined in the peace process.

The peace process will be accompanied by a number of economic and technical projects, and the possibilities for deepening cultural and humanist relations.

Zahidore also praised Tehran-Moscow relations, un- derlining the importance of maintaining the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action on the Iranian nuclear program.

The Ultimate Council of the Islamic Republic of Iran also expresses its readiness to support the United Nations and its efforts to promote peace and security in the region.

Therefore, a very decisive stance is expected to show a serious reaction to the threats and pressures. Bighash said, suggesting that the Parliament’s response to the threats and provocations should be an important action to support the country’s national prestige and interests.

The lawmaker noted that “the recent statements of the Israeli regime are filled with the wish to bully the Palestinian people and the international community. Therefore, it is essential to support the Palestinian people in all ways.”

He added, “Today, in order for you to witness and react to the history, I declare that the Parliament’s reaction is a firm stance against the country’s role in the region.”

Thetehran - Ahmad Bighash, an Iranian lawmaker, has slammed Turkey’s “geostrategic interference” in the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict and called for a firm stance against the country’s role in the region. Speaking at an open session of the Parliament on Tuesday, Bighash said that Turkey’s actions are not only against the interests of Azerbaijan and Armenia, but also against the interests of the Islamic Republic of Iran, and the US has been against the efforts of the international community to stabilize the situation in the region.

The lawmaker noted that “Turkey’s aggressive behavior is not only against the interests of Azerbaijan and Armenia, but also against the interests of the Islamic Republic of Iran.”

Unfortunately, Turkey does not realize this great danger, and recently, the Turkish government, under the influence of the two independent states of Azerbaijan and Armenia, has taken steps to destabilize the situation in the region, the lawmaker stated.

He pointed out that while important regional developments are occurring, the Parliament “in the deadly neglect of its foreign policy apparatus” is busy discussing “superficial issues.”

TEHRAN — Pakistan has a relatively large consumer market with a population of over 220 million people. According to the World Trade Organization, Pakistan’s exports constitute over 16 percent of Pakistan’s trade.

Expansion of trade with Pakistan, and bowling exports to this neighbor is one of Iran’s priorities.

Speaking to the Financial Tribune, Pakistan’s Head of Iran’s Trade Promotion Organization (TPO) Hamid Zainal Abadi said the joint economic committee meeting held in Pakistan earlier this year (ended on March 15) was $1.8 billion, but in the meantime, financial and banking processes have still created obstacles to discuss a variety of issues including electricity exports, and marites, road, and rail transportation cooperation.

The TPO head had visited Pakistan along with a high-ranking delegation headed by Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif. He said Pakistan is the past Iranian calendar year (ended on March 15) was $1.8 billion, but in the meantime, financial and banking processes have still created obstacles to discuss a variety of issues including electricity exports, and marites, road, and rail transportation cooperation.

Major Iraqi parliamentary bloc wants full withdrawal of U.S. troops

A powerful political coalition in Iraq’s parliament says Washington must withdraw all its troops from the Arab country instead of persisting in occupying it.

Karim Atriz, a legislator from the Fatah (Faction) alliance and secretary of the Security committees in the Iraqi parliament, told Arabic-language bagdad Today news website on Tuesday, “The Coalition of Victory bloc and the Kurdistan Islamic Group cannot accept the deployment of any military forces on Iraqi soil. We want the immediate and complete withdrawal of all military forces from Iraq, as well as the United States.

Atriz described the Pentagon’s decision to reduce the number of U.S. forces in Iraq as “unacceptable”, emphasizing that the U.S. forces remain a source of tension for the stability of the region. They, along with the会不会on forces from the eastern Iraqi territories, including the semi-autonomous Kurdistan region, have repeatedly emphasized their interest in complete and complete withdrawal of all military forces from Iraq, as well as the United States.

“Calls for the full withdrawal of all foreign troops from Iraq were repeated time and time again, and we do not make our demands as they have been ratified by the Iraqi parliament in both political and popular support,” the Iraqi lawmaker said.

U.S. senators seek to halt Trump's $83bn UAE arms sale

Three United States senators said they would introduce legislation seeking to halt the Trump administration’s effort to sell more than $83 billion in arms to the United Arab Emirates, a showdown with the president two months before he is due to leave office.

Democratic Senators Bob Menendez and Chris Murphy and Republican Senator Joe Manchin joined with US officials in the Middle East who have been warning against separate resolutions of disagreement of President Donald Trump’s plan to sell arms to the UAE, including the UAE’s purchase of advanced F-35 fighter jets and air-to-air missiles to the UAE, which violate the law against arms sales to countries that support terrorist groups.

They said the U.S. State and Defense Departments also refused to provide information on potential risks to US military personnel and relations with allies, as well as an assessment of national security risks associated with the proposed sales.

The resolution is expected to be considered in the new Congress region, according to a joint statement he and Menendez released on Tuesday.

“The Emirates are an important security partner, but their recent acquisitions of advanced weapons systems raise serious concerns about their use of such systems in the region. We have called for a pause on all arms sales to the UAE,” the senators said.

Azerbaijan enters Nagorno-Karabakh region after peace deal

Azerbaijan’s army says it has entered the disputed region, the first of three territorial parcels handed over as part of a Russian-brokered peace deal that ended a decades-long dispute with Armenia.

“The Azerbaijani military entered the Nagorno-Karabakh region, including the liberated Aghdam district, in full accordance with the agreement,” Azerbaijan’s Defense Ministry said.

The announcement came after Armenia and Azerbaijan, at the request of Russia, signed an agreement earlier this month to end six weeks of fierce fighting over the breakaway Nagorno-Karabakh region.

Armenia, which declared independence from the Soviet Union in 1991, had been in control of the region, outside Azerbaijan proper, since the end of the Soviet Union in the early 1990s. But Azerbaijan fought a war with Armenia from 1988 to 1994 over the territory and later took the region.

Syria, Arab League condemn Pompeo’s visit to occupied West Bank, Golan Heights

The Arab League and the government of Syria has categorically condemned US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo’s visit to the occupied territories of Palestine in West Bank and the occupied provinces of Golan Heights in Syria.

This came after Pompeo’s trip to the region to meet with “the strategic and military leaders” of the UAE and Bahrain.

During his trip, Pompeo has also signed a number of agreements with these countries, including the sale of arms and equipment.

Hamas condemns Bahraini foreign minister’s visit to occupied territories

Palestinian Hamas resistance movement has condemned a Bahraini foreign minister’s visit to the occupied territories of Palestine.

The movement has accused the Bahraini minister of using his visit to “embarrass” the Palestinian problem and normalize relations with Israel.

Hamas said that Pompeo’s visit to the occupied territories and the friendly talks with him would be considered by the movement as a “serious warning”.

Hamas has repeatedly condemned any moves to normalize relations with Israel.

A new wave of violence in the region has hit the occupied territories recently, with Palestinian protesters clashes with Israeli forces over the issue of Jerusalem’s status.

The story of Mohammad Asadi, a teacher from Khuzestan province, has been trending on social media this week. Asadi, who inherited $290,000 from his father’s estate, decided to use the money to educate underprivileged students.

Asadi, who is teaching physics at a secondary school in Ahvaz, used $150,000 to purchase tablets for over 200 children in 24 villages of Khuzestan. He also spent $35,000 on study material for them.

In an interview with IRINA, Asadi explained his decision: “I have always been involved in social activities. For the last 10 years, I have been involved in providing tablets to students in need. But this year, I wanted to do more. So, I bought tablets as a gift to students in need to study. This is why I decided to use my father’s inheritance.”

The tablets were provided to students in 24 villages across the province, including villages such as Balal, Shadegan, and Dastgerd. Asadi said he plans to provide another 200 tablets by the next week.
Mahak celebrates World Children’s Day with online painting exhibition

Title: TEHRAN

Subtitle: An online exhibition of paintings created at the Mahak Charity Foundation, a Tehran-based major medical center for children, opened on Wednesday to celebrate World Children’s Day.

Details: Every year on World Children’s Day, Mahak children used to wait for theater troupes, musicians and exhibitions to celebrate the day with a variety of programs to help ease the pain of cancer for a few hours, a Mahak official, Behnam Asaami, has said.

“This year, due to a spike in the coronavirus in the country, the organization has held a virtual exhibition and asked the children of Mahak to send their artworks to children from several other hospitals to participate in online exhibitions, which are now available on the Instagram page of the charity’s website,” she added.

In addition, a music video featuring a selection of the paintings will be screened for the children at Mahak, while it will be uploaded by the Mahak psychologists for children at home.

World Children’s Day was first established in 1954 as Universal Children’s Day, and observed on November 20 each year to promote international togetherness, awareness among children worldwide and better conditions for children’s welfare.

Iranian artists have always had active participation on various occasions to provide an opportunity for children at Mahak to experience a time of hope to help them forget their difficult days.

In early July, a number of artists celebrated the Day of Literature for Children and Young Adults by telling stories to children at the charity center.

The narratives of some stories by the artists were also uploaded on the Instagram page of the center.

In addition, the 16th Resistance International Film Festival, which will be held during December, plans to review films on Commander Qassem Soleimani’s role in invoking people of the region and the world in a special section named “Prominent Resistance Martyr Section”.
